

Thunderstorms Dump Rain But No Tornadoes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms roared out of Texas and buffeted Arkansas with rain, wind and hail Sunday night, but forecast tornadoes did not materialize.

Six members of a family were injured at Stuttgart when their trailer overturned in a windstorm. Storm damage was heavy in Stuttgart, Texarkana and Sheridan also reported wind and rain storms that did some damage.

A tornado forecast issued Sunday afternoon was lifted at 1:30 a.m. Monday after the worst of the thunderstorms passed through the state. The U.S. Weather Bureau in Little Rock forecast thunderstorms for today, but said they would not be severe.

Several tornadoes were reported when the same thunderstorm rolled over Texas earlier Sunday. Twisters also were reported in Oklahoma and Missouri.

A severe weather alert was issued for the extreme northwest tip of Arkansas because of the Oklahoma-Missouri storms, but no damage was reported in the threatened Arkansas counties of Boone, Carroll and Benton.

Thunderstorms were general over the southwest and central parts of the state. Texarkana reported hail as big as golf balls which smashed windows in the downtown section. High winds that blew in with a roar lifted roofs off some buildings.

At Stuttgart, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gibson were trapped in the bedroom of their trailer when it overturned. Their children William Jr., 11; Roger Lee 7; Allen Lee, 4; and Ellen Faye, 14, were cut and bruised when bunks overturned and collapsed in their rooms. They got out of the trailer and firemen freed their parents. The family was treated by a doctor but none were hospitalized.

Stuttgart streets were flooded and Police Chief Harold Lambert said more than 20 homes were damaged. A carport was torn loose from one house and blown over another.

The city's largest elementary school, Buckle, was partly flooded when a hole was blown in the roof by the high wind. A screen at a drive-in theater was blown down.

Another windstorm struck a rural area 11 miles north of Sheridan, uprooting trees and damaging at least one house.

Judgment Affirmed by Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today affirmed a $17,187 judgment against the state Publicity and Parks Commission for land taken to build an airport on Petit Jean Mountain.

The Commission had appealed the judgment as excessive.

The airport was built in 1954 by millionaire Winthrop Rockefeller, who obtained a 20 year lease on the land from the owners, Billie Earl and others. The commission decided to take over the airport and filed a condemnation suit.

The judgment was for Earl and his associates. Rockefeller was not a party to the litigation.

Conway Circuit Court ruled the land should be valued as airport property and set the price accordingly. The commission said it should have been valued as farm and timber land. About 20 acres was involved.

A Benton Chancery Court decision ordering the Northside Supply and Development Co. to continue furnishing water to the city of Cave Springs was affirmed.

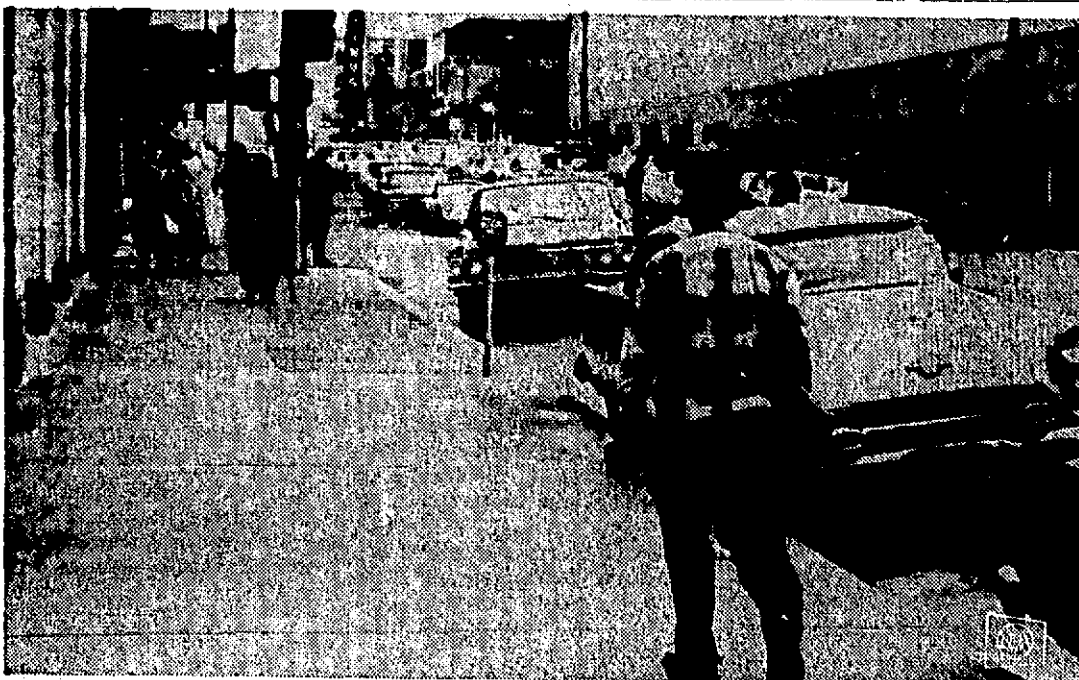

The city and E. L. Keith signed a 25-year water supply contract in 1950. Keith later sold his water pumping station to the development company. The city complained that it was not being furnished enough water and filed suit.

Lion Hunt Underway at Clarksville

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Ozark Mountain men stand in their front yards, rifles ready, their wives and children are on porches, listening, waiting.

A lion is loose.

Or at least they think it's a lion.

The yellow cat-like beast with a mane and long tail has shown up three times in the past week launched by 100 men and 100 dogs.

"I assure you I'm going to get him," said Justin James, president of the Johnson County Fox-hunters Association. "I'll lay off work for six months if I have to."

James, a farm manager, is leading the search. His band of foxhunters have been joined by volunteers, sheriff's deputies, and college students from Arkansas Tech, 30 miles away.

The party didn't see the lion yesterday and most hunters came home dripping wet from a thunderstorm. They planned to go back today. Some of the hunters cornered a large wolf yesterday, shot at him seven times, but he got away.

"The wolf wasn't what we're after," James said. "This lion thing has footprints four inches across, and when he leaps, his tracks are eight feet apart."

"He's hungry. He's going to make a move."

AEA Promises All Out Fight Against Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Opponents and proponents of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' proposed $60 million construction bond issue lined up over the weekend with the loudest blast coming from the Arkansas Education Association which promised an all-out fight to defeat the program.

The AEA's Council on Education voted 317-37 to authorize the AEA to take the necessary steps needed to defeat the program.

The bond issue was proposed by Faubus with the money to go toward financing construction programs at various state institutions. It will be voted on in a special election to be called by the governor who has said such a vote would not be immediate.

Forrest Rozzell, AEA executive secretary, said the teacher organization would support a smaller building program, indicating a sum of around $36 million.

Joining the AEA in opposing the bill Saturday was the Arkansas

Anti-Radar Device Sold to Motorists

NORTH TONAWANDA, N.Y. — (UPI) — An electronic firm here has developed an "ultimate weapon" for the motorist—an anti-radar device which can be mounted in an automobile to seek out and "neutralize" radar speed traps.

Providing the motorist with what in effect is his own distant early warning (DEW) system against surprise attack, the gadget is being marketed by Radar Sentry, under the name "Radar Sentry."

It weighs 11 ounces, is battery operated and small enough to fit in the palm of the hand. It can "feel" radar impulses focusing in on a moving auto from 1,200 to 1,500 feet away — about a thousand feet beyond the critical point where a police monitor can start to measure accurately the speed of the "target."

The advance warning would be enough for all but the most determined speeders to slow down before they got fixed" by radar.

William L. Waytana, 33, general manager and founder of Radar Sentry said Radar Sentry was developed in response to numerous complaints about the way police in some areas "use radar to collect revenues."

"We have received hundreds of letters, especially from the South, complaining against the uncouth tactics of police in hiding their radar installations in trees or in bushes or stopping motorists going only one or two miles over the speed limit," Waytana said.

He stressed that Radar Sentry was not designed to allow motorists to speed with impunity, but rather to "warn them when they start exceeding the speed limit as often happens unconsciously."

The device is designed to fit on the dash or sun visor, its built-in antenna facing out toward the highway. First contact with incoming radar beam starts it whistling and the whistling grows louder as the car moves closer to the radar installation.

Waytana said the effective anti-radar range of Radar Sentry had been held down deliberately so that it could not be misused by "reckless speeders."

"For instance, he said, if a person was going 50 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone, Radar Sentry could not give him effective warning to slow down in time to avoid apprehension on the police monitor. If he was going 40 m.p.h. he would be covered."

Signs Indicate Russia Backing Away From a Showdown in Laos

Declares Russia Will Welcome Laos Solution

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union will welcome a solution for Laos at the conference table instead of the field of battle, the Communist party paper Pravda said today.

But while willing to negotiate, Moscow warned against SEATO intervention in Laos.

The Pravda article was a broad approval for American and British moves to bring the situation into negotiation. But it left in doubt just how a ceasefire, as proposed by the British, would be worked out.

The paper noted the British proposal for an immediate ceasefire to be followed by an international conference.

"It is not hard to see that concrete possibilities exist for the adjustment of the Laotian problem if all the countries concerned strive for this on a mutually acceptable basis and do nothing that might complicate the situation in Laos," Pravda said.

Pravda commented favorably on President Kennedy's call at a news conference for a truly neutral Laos. This probably foreshadowed the message Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko carried to Washington for his conference today with the President.

It was understood from diplomatic sources that the British proposals on Laos—expressed in a note to the Kremlin March 23—were being studied and a reply can be expected shortly.

Pravda, blaming the Laotian crisis on the Western powers, accused SEATO of bringing Chinese Nationalist soldiers into the conflict. It warned against intervention by any SEATO nation and demanded U.S. military advisers get out of the Asian kingdom.

Pravda declared that force would be met with force if necessary, but its main emphasis was on negotiations for a peaceful solution.

The article was signed "Observer," meaning it came from the highest government authority.

In Washington there was no immediate official comment from the State Department. But officials said if the Pravda account turns out to be Soviet acceptance of the British proposals the United States will, of course, be very gratified.

Apportionment Suits Merged

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today granted permission to consolidate two suits challenging the manner in which the State Board of Reapportionment changed the distribution of seats in the Arkansas House as a result of population shifts reflected by the 1960 census.

One suit was filed by James O. Stevens of Pine Bluff and the other by Fred J. Verner and other Little Rock residents.

The board took one seat away from Mississippi County and gave one to Miller County but made no other changes.

SEATO Set to Use Force If Necessary

By HAL McCLEURE

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Meeting under the threat of armed Communist takeover in nearby Laos, foreign ministers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization today appeared ready to meet force with force if necessary.

The report from Moscow that the Soviet Union had approved the Western proposal for a ceasefire in Laos electrified the SEATO conference. But U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk cautioned an aide to wait for official word and added, "Any reply will have to be examined carefully before it can be assured."

Rusk apparently spoke for most of the eight-nation alliance when he told the opening session of the SEATO Council of Foreign Ministers that "peace is possible only through restraining those who break it in contempt of law." Rusk who cited the Communist threat to both Laos and South Viet Nam and reminded the ministers that the alliance has an obligation "to assist the peoples of Southeast Asia in their fight for their freedom."

"Speaking for my country," the American continued, "I wish to

Not Willing to Buck SEATO Nations Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said after an hour-long White House conference today that he and President Kennedy both hope ways can be found to settle the Laotian crisis peacefully.

Gromyko reported that he had "touched on" the issue of a ceasefire in Laos during his talk with Kennedy but "I have nothing to say on that at this moment."

"The President and I," Gromyko said, "had a very interesting and useful conversation. Naturally the question of Laos was touched upon."

"The President and I, at the end of our conversation, expressed the hope that a possibility will be found to settle the controversy in a manner to provide for the neutrality of Laos."

Summing up, Gromyko said: "It would be good if both our countries acted in that direction."

Other questions of common interest to the United States and the Soviet Union also were discussed during the meeting in the President's oval office, Gromyko reported.

He did not specify what those additional questions were.

Kennedy and Gromyko conferred amid evidence that Russia is backing away from a military showdown with the SEATO allies over Laos.

U. S. Plane Missing Over Laos

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said today it has information indicating that a U.S. plane missing in the Laos area was shot down by the Reds.

Press officer Joseph W. Trep, asked about the U.S. Embassy C-47 that disappeared Thursday with eight American military men aboard replied:

"Our information is the plane is missing and I guess it's a fair assumption that it's been shot down."

Trep declined to detail the available information making it a "fair assumption" that the two-engine transport craft went down because of Communist fire.

He said he had no information about the plane's crew.

The craft left Vientiane, capital of Laos, Thursday morning. Its ultimate destination was Saigon in neighboring South Viet Nam.

An announcement that the plane was missing was made Saturday. There was no word whether the craft might have flown over territory controlled by the rebels who are getting Soviet and North Vietnamese supplies, and are fighting the royal Lao government.

The direct Vientiane-Saigon route would have carried the plane over friendly Thailand and not over the battle area in northeastern Laos.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports are circulating here that the U.S. transport plane missing in Laos with eight Americans may have been shot down over pro-Communist rebel territory.

The State and Defense departments declined Sunday night to go beyond a bare announcement, issued Sunday, that the C-47 has been missing two days.

The announcement said the plane left Vientiane, capital of Laos, Thursday morning for Saigon.

Growers making this 20 per cent retirement are eligible for payments as well as for price supports. The payments will be determined by multiplying one half the normal yield of the corn or sorghum by the price support rate. For example, an acre with a normal yield of 60 bushels of corn would earn a payment of $35 (30 bushels times $1.20). The rate for sorghum grains is $1.93 a hundredweight as compared to $1.52 last year.

Growers have the privilege of retiring additional land but not in excess of a total of 40 per cent of their corn or sorghum land. The payment on the additional land is determined by multiplying 60 per cent of the normal yield by the price support. Thus an acre with a 60 bushel normal yield of corn would earn a payment of $43.20 (36 bushels times $1.20).

A farmer who grows both corn and sorghums has the privilege of making his land reduction for both in one or the other of the two grains. The total amount of land retired would have to be 20 per cent of the average amount of land be planted to the two crops in 1959 and 1960.

Retired land must be diverted to conservation uses, such as grass, legumes and the like. This land cannot be used for livestock grazing and no crops of hay can be taken from it.

The bill gives the secretary of agriculture authority to make payments on the first 20 per cent of the retired land in cash or surplus grains from government stocks. If the secretary chooses to pay in grain, a farmer earning, for example, a payment of $100 will get a certificate which would entitle him to $100 worth of government grain at the current market price. Or the farmer can authorize the government to sell the grain for him and pay him in cash.

The payment for land retired in addition to the first 20 per cent must be paid in grain. The farmer will get his payment the same way.

The device of paying in grain puts into the hands of the secretary of agriculture power to depress market prices of the grain by selling surplus or by releasing stocks to farmers for their own use.

The purpose of selling surplus grains or releasing it to farmers under the payment program is to win compliance with the program. Farmers who did not retire land will be ineligible for supports. Greatly depressed market prices would cut their incomes.

Not in the legislation, but previously announced as a part of the feed grain program, is an increase in the price support rate for soybeans—from $1.85 a bushel last year to around $2.30 this year. This action is designed to divert some additional corn land to soybeans, a commodity not now in surplus.

to Kennedy, was scheduled to see the President at noon, just 24 hours after Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan met at Key West, Fla., where they declared their determination to prevent Laos from being overrun by Soviet backed Communist rebels.

The United States and Britain intend to work through the South East Asia Treaty Organization, which opened a foreign ministers conference at Bangkok, Thailand, today.

The United States was ready to ask SEATO intervention to what ever extent necessary to save Laos from Communist conquest. Reinforcing this purpose, American aircraft, ships and men were being concentrated in the South East Asian area.

It was at this critical juncture in the Laotian crisis that administration officials learned with evident satisfaction this morning that the Soviet government, through an article in Pravda, had put its major stress on desire for a peaceful settlement.

The Pravda story indicated at least general approval of procedures proposed by Britain a week ago. It left unclear, however, specific and vital points: First, whether the Soviet Union is immediately halting its airlift of supplies to rebel forces in Laos and, second, whether Khrushchev is sending word to the rebels to stop the fighting, pending the outcome of possibly prolonged diplomatic negotiations.

Kennedy and Macmillan had surveyed military measures in the making and announced: "The situation in Laos cannot be allowed to continue to deteriorate." Pravda's article was signed "Observer," meaning it stemmed from the highest government authority. For the first time it mentioned the British note of March 23 proposing a ceasefire and the convening of a 14 nation conference to seek a permanent peace in Laos.

The Observer article also welcomed "the statement of the President that the United States wants peace in Laos and not war."

The article added: "They want to solve the problem in a conference and not on the battlefields. That is what the Soviet Union wants."

In Washington, there was no official immediate comment from the State Department. But officials said if the Pravda account turns out to be Soviet acceptance of the British proposals the United States will, of course, be very gratified.

They called attention to Kennedy's statement at a news conference last week that, "First, we strongly and unreservedly support the goal of a neutral and independent Laos tied to no outside power or group of powers, threatening no one and free from any domination."

assure the members of this organization and the peoples of Southeast Asia that the United States will live up to those responsibilities."

Rusk reportedly made an even stronger statement of the American position to officials of the U.S. Embassy just before the SEATO meeting, telling them that the United States would not flinch from positive action if the Soviet Union refuses to go along with a ceasefire in Laos. "We will fight if it is necessary," an American informant said.

The other seven foreign ministers from SEATO's member nations each spoke his concern about the crisis in Laos, where Communist-supplied Pathet Lao rebels have scored recently against the Western-backed royal government's troops.

Earlier this month, a similar hunt was conducted in Big Cabin, Okla., 135 miles west of here, where a lion was thought to have escaped from a wrecked circus wagon. James thinks the Clarksville lion may be the same one. Or, he said, it may be a cougar, equally dangerous.

Another farmer told James yesterday he saw the animal in his pasture last week. A hunting dog tangled with the beast, was slate supported colleges lent their support to the governor program and urged him to call the special election "at the most opportune time."

The college representatives described the bond issue the only way "under existing revenues that (building) needs can be met without jeopardizing current revenue."

They agreed that a pay-as-you-go plan would only partially fulfill their needs but added, "much of the alarm and concern over the bond issue is unfounded."

Clemency Asked for Lauderdale

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he has been receiving mail asking executive clemency for E. A. Lauderdale Sr., the Little Rock segregationist leader, who is under three-year prison sentence for integration-related bombings here.

"I haven't yet considered reducing any of these bombing sentences," Faubus said.

But the governor indicated he may give the matter study.

"Most of the letters about the Lauderdale case," Faubus said "apparently were prompted by the Arkansas Supreme Court decision ordering a new trial for that Negro bomber. From what I read, the Negro (Macco Binns Jr.) was a confessed bomber and Lauderdale was convicted on circumstantial evidence. There seems to be some disillusionment with the court systems."

Lauderdale and three other white men were sentenced to prison terms in connection with three bombings on the night of Labor Day, 1959. A fifth man got a suspended sentence.

Binns was given five years in connection with an explosion at the home of a Negro student on Feb. 9, 1960.

The Supreme Court upheld the convictions of the white men but said that Binns should have a new trial because a confession obtained after he had been kept awake more than 50 hours had been used against him.

Faubus returned to his office today from a week's vacation which he spent fishing in the Hazen area.

He said he had not had time to bring himself up to date on governmental problems.

The Crowd Got the Last Laugh

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—A favorite trick of the Arkansas Tech parachute jumping club backfired Sunday and the laugh was on the amateur paratroopers.

It seems the club has a "baby" parachute with small weights and no chutist which is thrown out at the end of the jumping exercises to give the crowd a scare.

The crowd is supposed to think the chutist has disappeared.

Sunday the weights came off and the parachute floated away on the wind.

The crowd got a big laugh and the jumping club lost its prize parachute.

When last seen, the chute was high-tailing it for Missouri at an altitude of 2,500 feet.

Operation of Grain Program

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here's how the Kennedy administration's emergency feed grain program, enacted into law this week, is designed to operate:

Producers will be asked to reduce plantings of corn and sorghum grains at least 20 per cent from the 1959-60 average plantings. They have to do so in order to be eligible for price supports on these two crops.

The price support for corn is $1.20 a bushel compared with $1.06 last year. Growers who do not retire at least 20 per cent of corn and sorghum will not be eligible

Friday Music Club Meets

With Mrs. G. G. Medders On March 24 the Friday Music Club met in the home of Mrs. G. G. Medders with Mrs. Arch Wylie as co-hostess. Spring flowers such as carnations and branches of lilac and redbud graced the home. Upon their arrival the 13 members and guests were served a light dessert and coffee.

Mrs. V. R. Herndon, Jr., president, had charge of the business meeting after the recitation of the club creed in unison. Various reports were heard, and Miss Mary Anita Lassater was appointed to serve on the district nominating committee.

A nominating committee to select officers was appointed by the president, Mrs. Arch Wylie, Mrs. Gilbert Thomas, and Mrs. Clarence Geist will compose it.

The Hymn of the Month was presented by Mrs. Arch Wylie, who told the history of "O Word of God Incarnate." Then, the club sang it accompanied by Mrs. B. C. Hyatt. Mrs. Hyatt had charge of the program on Junior Music Clubs and traced the progress of three local clubs, The Melody Makers, The Music Makers, and The Troubadours.

Representing two of these clubs were three guest performers. Miss Virginia Edwards played "Waltz" by Clementi as a piano solo. The program was concluded with two vocal solos by Miss Marguerite Ellis, "Prayer of a Norwegian Child" by Richard Kountz and "My Lover is a Fisherman" by Lily Strickland.

Miss Caroline Cox Weds Jerry Wayne Fant Friday

Miss Caroline Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lamar Cox of Hope, Arkansas, became the bride of Jerry Wayne Fant, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Virgil Fant, also of Hope, Friday evening, March 24.

The bride attended Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va., and the University of Arkansas, where she was a member of the Chi Omega Sorority.

The bridegroom was graduated from Texarkana College and is now associated with the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co. of Little Rock, Arkansas.

The Rev. Robert B. Moore, Superintendent of the Hope District of the Methodist Church, performed the double ring ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. A mirrored mantle, decorated with greenery, pink gladioli, and candles served as a background for the ceremony. Traditional wedding music was played.

The bride wore a sea-mist silk suit with three-quarter bishop sleeves. A wide pilgrim collar framed the scoop neckline. Her hat was a cloth made of petals of white organza interspersed with orange blossoms. Pearls and matching accessories complemented her costume. She carried a spray of white camellias atop a white moire silk covered prayer book.

Miss Jennifer Cox, dressed in a pink silk shirtwaist dress with matching accessories attended her sister.

Mr. James Easterling served the bridegroom as best man. After the ceremony the guests, close friends and relatives of the two families, were invited into the dining room. The table, covered with a pink nylon and lace over taffeta cloth, was centered with burning tapers and an arrangement of pink and white carnations. A wedding ring of frozen pink blossoms floated in the silver punch bowl. Traditional miniature wedding cakes were also served.

Assisting in the houseparty were Mrs. A. D. Brannan, Mrs. George W. Peck, Mrs. Fred Ellis, Mrs. Earl Lee Archer, Jr., Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Sam Strong, and Mrs. Frank E. Robins, III, of Conway.

Miss Lamar Cox, the bride's sister, presented the guests with

Teachers May Get Hikes of $4.6 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—If the expected amount of revenue comes into the state treasurer's office this year, Arkansas classroom teachers will get pay raises estimated at $4,601,105 in 1961-62.

That was the amount of a raise budgeted by the state Board of Education in a special meeting Sunday. Education Commissioner Arch Ford said he did not know what the average teacher raise would be.

The board programmed a total increase of $5,991,405 for the public school fund, including the more than $4 million for teachers. Teachers are getting $731,600,000 this year and next year they probably will get $36,201,105.

Ford said the estimated figures could change because they are based on estimated revenues.

The board budgeted $6 million for transportation aid to school districts to pay for a $4 million increase. Districts will receive a minimum of $20 and a maximum of $42 for transportation for each child.

Belgiums to Form a New Cabinet

By ALFRED CHEVAL

BRUSSELS (AP)—Election losses by the right wing of the Catholic party opened the prospect today that the party's trade union wing would join the Socialists to form a new cabinet.

Because of the traditional Catholic-Socialist rivalry, however, it appeared a lengthy period of negotiations would ensue before a new government could be formed to succeed Catholic Premier Gaston Eyskens' 28-month-old coalition of Catholic Social Christians and Conservative Liberals.

Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny of the Social Christians predicted a coalition of Social Christians, Socialists and Liberals. The Social Christian party president, Theo Lefevre, said his party "is not opposed to any political combination, nor does it advocate any—we are open to any solutions."

"All political combinations are now possible," said Socialist leader Paul-Henri Spaak. Another Socialist, former Foreign Minister Victor Larock, said any future government "will have to rest upon the will of labor."

In the voting for a new Parliament Sunday, the Catholics were the heaviest losers although retaining the country's largest party. The Socialists lost slightly, the Liberals gained slightly and the Communists and the pro-Flemish Volksunie party on the extreme right, while still making negligible showings, gained seats in Parliament.

The election stemmed from Eyskens' austerity law trimming rice bags.

After a wedding trip the couple will make their home in Little Rock.

Out of town guests attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Glass, Miss Nannie Jett, Mrs. A. D. Brannan, Mrs. George W. Peck, Mrs. Fred Ellis, Mrs. Earl Lee Archer, Jr., Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Sam Strong, and Mrs. Frank E. Robins, III, of Conway.

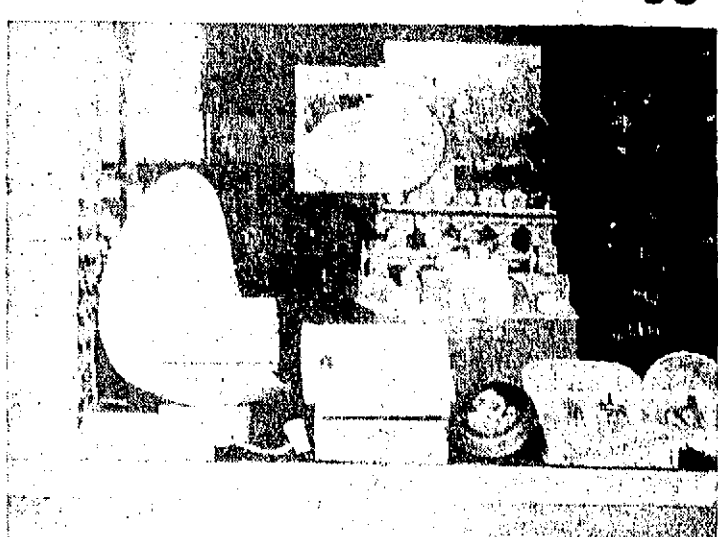

Miss Lamar Cox, the bride's sister, presented the guests with

Mrs. Hand Seeks Change of Venue

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A hearing was to be held today in Benton Circuit Court on a motion by defense attorneys for Mrs. Virginia Rand seeking a change of venue in her trial for second degree murder.

Trial for Mrs. Rand was scheduled to begin today for the second time in connection with the slaying of H. V. (Buddy) Clark who was fatally shot in August, 1959.

Mrs. Rand, the wife of a prominent Rogers businessman, was found guilty of the charge last Nov. 20 and sentenced to eight years in prison.

This was reversed by the Arkansas Supreme Court nearly a month later on grounds that inadmissible and prejudicial evidence had been allowed at the trial.

Judge John E. Miller previously had rejected a request by attorneys to have the case tried in U.S. District Court at Fort Smith. The attorneys contended a fair trial was impossible in Circuit Court because of alleged prejudice.

unemployment compensation and other social security benefits and raising taxes to offset the loss of the Belgian Congo. The government pushed the law through Parliament despite a month-long strike by the Socialist unions in which three persons were killed, many injured and millions of dollars lost.

After approval of the amnesty law, the Liberal faction in the Cabinet broke with Eyskens because he insisted on delaying the social security reductions, and King Baudouin called the new elections.

Girl Makes Solo Flight Safely

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Miss Norma Stella is safely back at Clarkdale, Miss., today after a harrowing weekend cross country solo flight into Arkansas which resulted in her becoming lost and finally "saved" by two other pilots.

The 16-year old high school junior, making her second such flight, failed to see the Mississippi River and tried in vain to find Little Rock.

A commercial airlines pilot, A. B. Pendleton enroute to St. Louis, heard her distress signal and aided by Dave Ward and G. L. Griffin of Conway, who were returning from Texas, shepherded the girl to a safe landing at Searcy. Less than a gallon of fuel remain in her plane.

Miss Stella, who has been flying since last June, was undaunted by the experience. "It was a good experience," she said, "This certainly won't keep me from flying."

On the return trip to Clarkdale, she was accompanied by Ed Young of Clarkdale, the owner of the plane, who had flown to Little Rock to meet her.

True Love Only Answer

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: You often publish a letter from some mother who fears to tell her child that it was conceived out of wedlock. I always cut them out. I am now a great-grandmother but years ago I faced just such a dilemma. I, too, had to married. Afterward, my husband said the baby wasn't his when God knows it was.

Now that child—my oldest boy—is grown and married. He knows I had to marry because of him and he hates me for it.

I have been a good mother to my children but this one breaks my heart—as did my husband. We divorced and he married the other woman. I hope you will print this. It may help other young girls. Believe me, marriage is only the answer when there is true love. —Great-grandmother.

Dear Great-grandmother: You were a victim of face-saving Victorian thinking. Had you obeyed your heart and not convention, your courage would have inspired your son to love you. Give him reason to do so now. It's never too late to go forward—head high, chin up.

Dear Helen: I am working to pay off my husband's gambling debts. He stopped drinking and gambling when I promised to do this. Now, after eight months' reform, he's at it again. Should I keep this up forever? We've been married 13 years and have a three-year-old child. Am I really desperate and would divorce were it not for baby. —Mrs. R. X.

Dear Mrs. R. X.: You'll be working till Domesday to pay off your husband's gambling debts unless you get at the cause of his drinking and gambling. The latter are undoubtedly surface manifestations of a deep-seated trouble. Talk to him frankly, being careful to make it clear that your one desire is to help him for the sake of your marriage and child. See your doctor or a psychiatrist. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflets, "Alcoholism" and "Financial Troubles."

Dear Helen: All my life I've heard wisecracks about in-laws but never understood them until my sons married. I was goodness itself to the first daughter-in-law. That was the only time I ever saw good bring bad results. My second daughter-in-law hated me too. Now they get no help from me. I've come to the conclusion that the doctrine of "Turn the other cheek" has its limits. —B. M.

Dear B. M.: Be pleasant when chance brings you and your daughters-in-law together and let it go at that. To do more is to lose your own and their respect. Turning the other cheek certainly has its limits. I don't subscribe to that doctrine any more than I do to that "The meek shall inherit the earth." The French interpret the same Benitude, "The gallant shall inherit the earth," which would be much more in the character of Jesus.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper.

U. S. Plans Telescope Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first U. S. telescope-in-the-sky satellite designed to tumble end over end 10 times a minute as it whirls through space, may be launched this week.

Space scientists hope it will give them an opportunity to explore beyond the curtain of the earth's atmosphere.

The satellite's mission will be to hunt gamma rays in every corner of space. These rays are similar to X rays, but of shorter wave length. They are emitted by radioactive substances.

The unique device, which resembles a telescope 7½ feet long, may be fired aloft this week from Cape Canaveral, Fla., the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced today.

NASA said the tumbling motion will enable the gamma ray telescope, aimed out through the end to scan a portion of the surrounding space every six seconds.

The 82-pound satellite will be launched into an elliptical, low-inclination orbit so it can scan the sun during the early part of its lifetime.

In order to provide the extra length and weight needed to attain a tumbling motion, its 44-inch fourth-stage rocket casing will remain attached to the telescope satellite.

Plans call for the satellite to orbit between the altitudes of 300 and 700 miles. It is expected to circle the earth about every 98 minutes to have a useful lifetime of six months to a year, and to remain in orbit for more than three years.

The primary objectives will be to detect high energy gamma rays from cosmic sources—our own galaxy and neighboring galaxies—and to map their distribution in the sky.

'Frontiers' Program Finds Tough Going

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy apparently is going to have to depend on his former Senate colleagues to salvage his House-buffed New Frontiers program.

For Kennedy this seems to mean that, unless there is an unforeseen change in the political weather, he is going to get something less than he asks on almost every major proposal laid before Congress.

No one expects Kennedy to take lying down the defeat he suffered last Friday when a House coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats killed an administration compromise on the minimum wage bill by one vote.

But the 216-203 roll call vote by which a Republican alternative proposal was approved showed Kennedy what he probably can expect in the House on many issues.

The President's obvious answer will be to put all the pressure he can mount on the Senate to get his version adopted there.

Kennedy already has shown in some other instances a readiness to send Cabinet members into action, to call governors on the telephone to urge them to enlist the support of their senators in his cause and to use his personal powers of persuasion with his former colleagues.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson appears to have launched another phase of this with a call on Democrats to rally party support for the President.

In a frankly partisan speech at a Louisville, Ky., Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, Johnson said Kennedy must have "the knowledgeable support of a knowledgeable party campaigning in season and out for the success of his program."

His advice to Democrats: "Knock on every door. Awaken every household. Let the people know there is somebody in charge in Washington."

This kind of campaigning, plus Kennedy's own individual and staff efforts, would be calculated to bring as many as possible of the Southern and border state Democratic senators back into the administration fold when the chips are down in Senate roll calls.

SHOOT CLASSMATE — MACK HERRING, 17, right, told police that he shot his Odessa, Tex., high school classmate, Elizabeth Jean Williams, left, also 17, in the temple after he drove the girl to a deserted field near Kermit, Tex. Herring said the girl came to him and asked him to kill her, then held a 12-gauge shotgun to her head while he pulled the trigger. He then tied weights to her body and dumped it into a stock pond. — NEA Telephone

CHAPTER XIX

Waddell spoke again. "It's my business to head off trouble. You're wrong, Ringgold—and you know it. Be man enough to admit it."

"I admit nothing. I retract nothing," Ringgold stormed. "To me a tinhorn is a tinhorn and never anything better. As for you—"

"Yes?" cut in Waddell a third time. "What about me?"

He moved ahead a little as he spoke, the challenge unmistakable. Startled, Ringgold backed away, went quickly quiet, after which he stopped past Waddell, heading for the door and through it.

Cincinnati in Big Upset Over Bucks for Title

By SKIPPER PATRICK
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Great defense, near-perfect ball control. Add a dash of enormous courage and you have the explanation for the Cincinnati Bearcats' 70-65 overtime victory over favored Ohio State in the NCAA basketball championship game Saturday night.

Ranked No. 1 nationally, riding a 32-game victory streak and seeking its second straight championship, Ohio State went into the fray a 7-point favorite, but the Buckeyes must have failed to reckon with the salty Cincinnati defenses.

"We concede them nothing, absolutely nothing," Cincinnati Coach Ed Jucker had said of the Buckeyes 24 hours earlier. "Our kids play good defense. We have just as good a chance as they have."

Despite an aggressive, tantalizing man-for-man defense with shifting assignments, the Bearcats were guilty of only 13 fouls. Paul Hogue, 6-foot-9, 235-pound junior from Knoxville, Tenn., aided at times by Tom Thacker, did a neat job tying up All-American Jerry Lucas, who was held to only 9 points in the last half and the overtime period.

Lucas scored 18 points the first half, however, for a game high of 27.

Cincinnati was in front much of the time, although Ohio State led 39-38 at the half. Carl Bouillon, Cincinnati senior, hit five of six shots from the field in the opening minutes of the second half and the warning sign was up for the Buckeyes.

Thacker and Tony Yates, a pair of classy sophomores, and veteran Bob Wiesenbahu led a late second-half spree that had Cincinnati ahead 61-59 until the Bucks' Bob Knight sent it into overtime with a driving basket with 1:41 left.

Cincinnati failed to end it in regulation time when Thacker missed from the side with two seconds left after the Bucks' had controlled the ball a minute and 39 seconds.

Hogue, normally a poor man at the free throw line, made two gratis losses opening the overtime and the Bearcats weren't caught again.

The 10,000 fans who jammed Municipal Auditorium for the second straight night were treated to an equivalent of three and a quarter games as the St. Joseph's (Pa.) College Hawks beat Utah 127-120 in four overtimes for third place.

A field goal by William Hoy, St. Joseph's sophomore, in the Utah basket opening the first overtime session only added spice to the program. Hoy, who described it as a "grade school trick," had a big hand in St. Joseph's eventual victory. Jack Egan threw in 42 points for St. Joseph's. Bill McGill popped in 34 for Utah.

Providence Captures NIT Meet

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Vinnie Ernst, a scrappy sophomore from Providence College, and Jack Foley, a sharpshooting Holy Cross junior, today were named the outstanding players of a 1961 National Invitation Basketball tournament and led the tourney's all-star team selected by The Associated Press.

Ernst, a fiery competitor who took charge of the Providence team and led it to a stirring 82-59 victory over St. Louis in the final game Saturday, was selected as the most valuable player in the tournament.

The award was earned as much by his "take charge" qualities of leadership as his individual contributions to the Friars' triumphs over Holy Cross in the semifinals and over St. Louis in the final.

Foley, whose fall-away jump shots looked almost unstoppable, scored 120 points in four games, falling just four short of the NIT record set by Maurice Stokes of St. Francis (Pa.) in 1955. He tossed in 35 Saturday as Holy Cross whipped lethargic Dayton 65-76 to take third place.

Foley, in addition to being high scorer, was the top rebounder for his team, grabbing 17 in the overtime semifinal loss to Providence and six against Dayton.

Joining with them on the team were Jim Hadnot, the 6-10 Providence center; Glen Mankowski, St. Louis guard who played a solid game on offense and defense all through the tournament; and Al Butler of Niagara, who gave a brilliant individual performance though his team lost its only tournament game.

The second team was composed of Capt. John Egan and George Zalucki of Providence, Gordon Hartweg of St. Louis, Tim Shea of Holy Cross and tiny Bruce Drysdale of Temple, the smallest player in the tournament.

No Intentions Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says he has no intention at this time of seeking the G O P presidential nomination in 1964. As of now, he said Sunday in a radio interview, he prefers to stay in the Senate.

PUPIL AND MASTER—Art Mahaffey, right-hand pitcher who came up from Buffalo last year to win seven out of ten for the Phillies, gets an earful from a Hall of Famer at Clearwater, Fla., training camp. Briefing Mahaffey is Paul Miller, who got 3,151 hits and 1,308 runs in 2,539 games.

Miss Suggs Wins Florida Meet

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)

Mickey Wright's brilliant two-under-par 69 was not enough as Louise Suggs captured the $7,500 Bradenton Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Suggs had a very respectable 70 over the last 18 holes Sunday for a 293 total and a two-stroke victory over the young Texan.

The victory was worth $1,247.35 to the Sea Island, Ga., golfer while Miss Wright drew $961.40.

Miss Wright had dropped out of the lead when she fired a 76 in the third round. Miss Suggs moved into a first place tie at that point with Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., who finished with a 76 for a 299 total that was good for third place.

Heber Springs Fire Loss $250,000

HEBER SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—

R. E. Hales, owner of a construction company here whose three warehouses were destroyed by fire Saturday night, has estimated the damage at $250,000.

Hales said ten trucks and two tractors were destroyed in the fire. Cause of the fire was not determined immediately. Firemen from Heber Springs and Searcy fought the flames for two hours.

The flames reached into the air and burned a community television antenna cable, cutting off television service in most of this area.

Podres Hurls Dodgers to 6th Straight

By MIKE PATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Southpaw Johnny Podres, sore-barked hurler who has had the tools but never the stamina needed to win 20 games has brought the Los Angeles Dodgers winning streak to six with the second route-going performance of the exhibition season.

Showing no signs of the back trouble that has plagued him throughout a standout major league career, the 28-year-old left hander flashed mid-season form Sunday as he went all the way in a five-hit 2-0 victory over Baltimore.

Podres, who never has won more than 14 games a season in his eight years with the Dodgers, struck out seven and walked four. He also drove in the only runs against the Orioles with a sharp single to center in the second inning.

The batters grabbed the spotlight for San Francisco and Minnesota. The Giants rapped the Chicago Cubs 15-10 with a 19-hit outburst that included five homers, while the Twins belted Kansas City 18-4 on a two-homer, 18-hit attack.

In other games, Chicago's White Sox edged Pittsburgh 2-1, Philadelphia nipped St. Louis, 5-3, New York defeated Cincinnati 6-2, Milwaukee whipped Detroit 7-4, Cleveland beat Boston 9-4, Washington bopped the Braves B team 5-1 and the Los Angeles Angels topped San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

Podres, joining Cub rookie Jack Curtis as the only pitchers to go the distance so far this season, allowed only one extra base hit—a double by Gus Triandos. The Dodgers were checked on six hits by Steve Barber and rookie John Papp.

Rookie catcher Tom Haller powered the Giants attack with two homers, one a grand slam job in the first inning. Orlando Cepeda, Willie Mays and pitcher Jack Sanford also connected for San Francisco, while Al Heist and Jerry Kindall countered for the Cubs.

Four unearned runs in the first and a six-run rally in the sixth gave the Twins their victory over the A's. Bob Allison drove in three runs for Minnesota with a homer and two singles, and Jose Valdivielso also hit for the distance.

Pinch hitter Earl Torgeson stroked a two-run single in the eighth to wrap it up for the White Sox, and became the club's leading RBI man with nine. The Pirates had scored in the first on singles by Dick Schofield and Bob Skinner and an infield out.

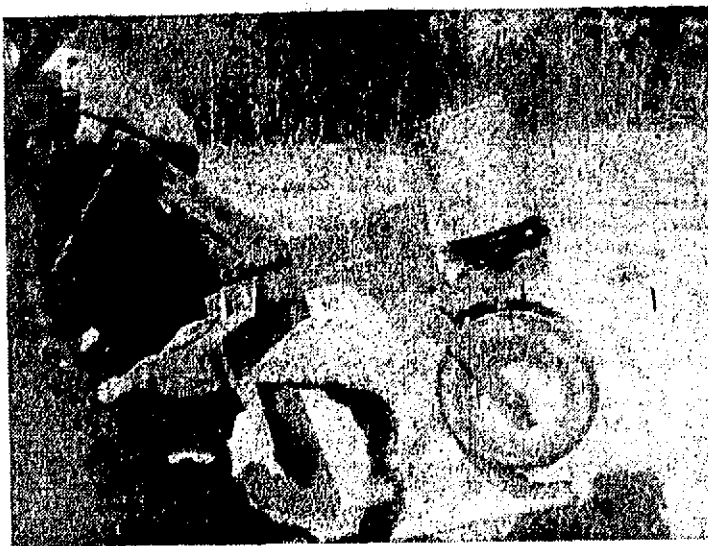

The Phils took advantage of two St. Louis errors and a misjudged fly ball, scoring all their runs in the fifth off Bob Miller. A two-run homer by rookie Leroy Thomas and the nine-hit pitching of Ralph Terry and Danny McDevitt gave the Yankees the edge over the Reds.

Roy McMillan and Wes Covington homered as the Braves downed the Tigers, despite Al Kaline's first roundtripper and a single, double and homer by Jake Wood. Eight runs in the first three innings clinched it for the Indians as Jim Grant limited the Red Sox to one run in six innings.

Joe McLain pitched seven-hit ball in a seven-inning stint against the Braves B squad, while Gene Woodling's two-run double in the third gave the Senators all the runs they needed. Julio Becquer's single in the seventh drove in the tie-breaker for the Angels, who got six-hit pitching from Ted Bowsfield and Jerry Casale.

The United States contributes nearly one-third of the UN budget.

Jack Nicklaus on His Way to Masters

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—It's not that No. 13 is unlucky for jolting Jack Nicklaus or anything like that, but with the Western Amateur golf title stuffed in his closet, he's on his way to the famed Masters—and that's where the 13 figures.

Nicklaus, who stands over the amateur world like a colossus, used his power game to its last lengthily inch Sunday to overwhelm James Billy Key of Columbus, Ga., 4 and 3 in the Western finals.

First it's a trip home to Columbus, Ohio, where he is a senior at Ohio State—"a little behind in my work"—for a week and then to Augusta, Ga., to do battle with the professionals.

The 21-year-old, 210-pound Buckeye better finished in a tie for 13th—there's that 13th again—in the Masters behind Arnold Palmer last year and target No. 1 is to improve on that showing.

Nicklaus came through on schedule as tournament favorite to win the Western's 59th staging. And while his performance was far from letter perfect, it magnified his rating as the nation's No. 1 amateur.

From the time they left the first tee Sunday, Nicklaus was in front of Key. He was three-up at the nine-hole turn and two under par with a 34 over the front half of the 6,505-yard New Orleans Country Club course.

Nicklaus left up a bit on the back nine, but maintained a tight control on the match that ended on the 16th for Key, a 30-year-old bank vice president.

In Sunday morning's semifinals Nicklaus routed former Louisiana State University star Jim Mangum of New Orleans 6 and 5 while Key whipped former professional Glen Fowler of Oklahoma City 3 and 2.

Ark-La Earnings Show a Drop

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Co. earnings for 1960 dipped slightly from 1959, the company's annual report shows.

The report shows Ark-La income for 1960 was $15,559,094, or $1.61 per share, compared to $16,483,082 and $1.71 a share in 1959.

The decrease was attributed to increased operating costs through expansion.

Hope Shooter Win Over Magnolia

The Local Junior Rifle Club, although without the services of two members of its No. 1 team, was out of town, got excellent support from three female substitutes to outshoot a men's team from Magnolia 1366 to 1246.

Butch Graham was high for Hope with a 345. David Moore, handicapped by a knee injury, dropped 23 points in the kneeling position to finish with a 334. Helen Ramsey turned in a 323, Lana Thompson a 296 and Pam Parslow a 279 as the ladies gave strong support.

Mike Westbrook, a member of the 12 year old team, shot a 221. Daniels was high for Magnolia with a 331, followed by McMahon with a 322, Brooks with 321 and Clouse with 272. Total team score is taken from the top 4 shooters from each club.

In position scoring, Graham was high prone with a 99. Moore was second with a 98. Moore led in the standing position with a 72 followed by Helen Ramsey with 65. Graham again led in sitting with 90. Moore and Ramsey each ending with 88. Butch also led in the kneeling position with 94. Ramsey was second with an 81.

The local Jr. team will take about 20 members of the club to Henderson, Texas on April 14 for a two day Jr. Sectional match with clubs from Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas.
